

Ethan Salter

Ethan is an art teacher with international experience across Japan, India, and Cameroon. He serves as an accreditation team member for the International Baccalaureate and the New England Association of Schools and Colleges. Passionate about the power of art to inspire and transform, Ethan encourages his students to explore and experiment with different forms of art.

Ethan is interested in improving the educational experience for his students, seeking the best methods for teaching and learning. He looks forward to serving on the VIS school board, where he hopes to contribute his experience and expertise. Through his dedication to excellence, creativity, and innovation, Ethan tries to make an impact on the communities he has served around the world.
